I work within the SEN department, not just with VI students.

My role involves adapting resources for the students (when not on cover), and supporting them in lessons when necessary. I do enjoy my role within the department in general but working with the VI students is very rewarding as it means they can access the school curriculum the same as everyone else. This makes them feel better about themselves because they don't feel that they are really different from the rest of their group. I also attend VI training courses and I'm attempting to learn Braille (it's not easy). I'm proud of all three students as they achieve well.
